

FINCA

The vineyard that gives origin to this Malbec was planted in 1938 and was cultivated by horses until 2002. It grows at 3200 feet of altitude, in alluvial soils: sandy loam with clay layers and deep gravel beds, formed by the millenary activity of Mendoza River. The combination this soil and old vines results in this classic wine from Mendoza, with flavors of attractive austerity, strong minerality, good balance and a long finish.

Place of origin: Perdriel, Luján de Cuyo, Mendoza.

Current vintages: 2017 and 2018.

M
MATERVINI

Robert Parker
The Wine Advocate

Wine Spectator

James Suckling

Tim Atkin

Descorchados
Patricio Tapia

Wine Enthusiast

/Matervini

/matervini

/Matervini